Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file shows a young woman removing her clothing in a sexually suggestive manner. Consideration has been given to whether it promotes or supports, or tends to promote or support, the exploitation of young persons for sexual purposes. The young woman has a youthful face, but, on balance, she presents as a young adult rather than a young person.

However, the publication is intended for the purpose of sexual arousal and is likely to have a negative effect on the development of sexual behaviour and attitudes of young viewers. As such it needs to be restricted to an adult audience.

The New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990 has been considered in the application of the criteria of the Films, Videos, and Publications Classification Act 1993 to this publication. The classification places a limit on the freedom of expression, but the availability of the moving image file to children and young people is likely to be injurious to the public good. The classification is reasonable, demonstrably justifiable and the minimum required to avoid injury.
